Seymour's Budget of News.

Special to the Sentinel. SEYMOUR, Ind. March 25 -Officers who were in search of Henry England, the perjurer, scoured the country as far as Vincennes, and getting no trace of him returned last night. It is believed he is beyond the Mississippi River and going West.

The remains of the late William H. Acton were brought from Kansas to this county and interred yesterday.

John Gail, who assaulted Willie Lebrandt with a rock some days ago, from the effects of which his condition is still critical, has been arrested and he was arraigned before Justice Mills S. Reeves, vesterday, and entered into bond for his appearance for trial on April 2.

The particulars of a most fiendish outrage committed at Brownstown on Sunday afternoon have just reached nere. George Chapin, a poor simpleton aged some thirty years, manifested a disposition to die. Some twenty young men and boys told him they would comply with his desire, and they marched him to the paupers' cemetery near the town. They dug a grave and placed him in an upright position in it when they surrounded the grave and told him they would shoot him to death. They drew their revolvers, leaded them with blank cartridges (he supposing they were balls) and opened a simultaneous fire. Chapin not being hit told them they were very poor shots and to do better next time. Some of them then put their revolvers against his head and sgain fired. Chapin never flinched, supping the act to be a dead He was then reality. out of the grave and the crowd dispersed. The affair has produced great excitement, and is severely condemned by all good citizens. The outrage will proably be sifted to the bottom by the Grand Jury in next month, and the guilty perpetrators eye, knocking the member out. The farm residence and barn of Mr. Charles W. Murphy, situated ten miles west of this city, were totally destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock this morning, together with all the contents. The family barely escaped with their lives, Loss, $3,500; insured for $2,000 fire was accidental.

Springville.

Special to the Sentinel. BEDFORD, Ind., March 25 .- Our town is just now in the midst of a temperance revival which is a matter of surprise to the "oldest inhabitant" on account of the number and character of persons who are taking the pledge. The meetings are held under .the auspices of the W. C. T. U., and have been in progress over two weeks, every night. Four hundred signers have been obtained to drunkards in town. The saloon men say these meetings are affecting their business

The usually quiet town of Springville, in this county, has been the scene recently of of several desperate fights. E. F. Sutherland, of that place, had occasion a few days ago to knock a young man named Fisher over the head with an iron poker, in selfdefense, as he claims, as Fisher was attempting to cut Sutherland with a knife. A warrant was issued yesterday for Fisher on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Yesterday Sutherland nad a desperate fist fight with John M. Gainey, of that place. Both men are reported as very badly hurt. Sutherland is the man who was charged with rob-bing his own safe of $1,100 which had been placed there for safe keeping by a friend, but no evidence was found against him.

The Grand Jury assembled in the Circuit Court Room vesterday morning, and in the absence of Prosecuting Atterney Powell, Judge Vinton appointed R. P. DeHart Prosecutor-elect, special Prosecuting Attorney to act in the former's absence. The Judge instructed the jury to ascertain if any viola-tion of the law had been committed, and referred especially to to the charges made against our present Prosecuting Attorney, who, he said, was entitled to presumption of innocence until his guilt had been established. At the end of his instructions the Judge said that it was the duty of the jury to thoroughly investigate the matter. The jury adjourned then and reassembled at o'clock in their new quarters in the Court-

Various Uses of Sorghum.

At a recent meeting af the New York

Chamber of Commerce Dr. Peter Collier, late chemist of the Department of Agriculture, said: The history of sorghum with us only dates back to 1853, when William R. in agency of McNair & Spray, this city. The | Prince imported from France a little sorghum seed, which Mr. D. Montigny, the French Consul at Shanghai, China, had sent Temperance Revival-Desperate Fights at | to the Geographical Society of Paris in 1850. In 1857 Leonard Wray, an English mer-chant, brought from Natal, South Africa, sixteen varieties of sorghum seed. To these last the name imphee was given, while the former was known as the Chinese sugar cane. And yet this plant, whose merits as a sugar-producing blant appear to have bean recognized thirty years ago, had come to be to be regarded as mainly valuable for forage or as a source of an inferior quality of syrup. It was a great error obtaining in Great Britain and on the continent, as also in our own country, that the the pledge, among them some of the worst Fully nine-tenths of them subsist mainly upon sorghum seed In Tarkestan sorghum is the main cereal, as, owing to the excessive droughts, no others could be successfully grown. In the northern part of China sorghum was grown as .naize is with us, and for the same purposes, and it so entirely satisfied the wants of the people that it had practically excluded maize. I have personally obtained within a few months from Calcutta eleven varieties of sorghum seed, twenty-one varieties from the Dharwar district in western India, three from Hong Kong, three from Foo Chow, two from Senegambia-in addition to eight varieties from northern China, three from Cawnpore, India, and twenty-two | from Natal, South Africa-in all, seventy-three distinct varieties of sorghum, not one of these appearing to be identical with any of the numerous varieties cultivated in the United States; and it is to be remembered that none of these varieties has ever been cultivated in either of these countries for any purpose other than the seed and such forage as might be secured from the stalks and blades. Indeed, it is probably true that for the past thousand years the seed of sorghum has furnished food in greater abundance for both man and beast than have wheat and maize combined. It is admitted that the demands upon climate and soil of the sorghum, as also the details of cultivation, are practically identical with those of maize, although it is a matter of moment that the sorghum, provided only it secures a good start in the early portion of the season, is capable of withstand-ing not only, but even flourishing during a drought which would prove fatal to maize. The chemical composition of sorghum seed shows it to be practically identical with maize; and for the purposes of food or fattening, for the production of alchol, glucose or starch, the one may be substituted for the other, and there is no reason for any difference in their commercial value. Grown as Indian corn is grown, for the seed alone, sorghum is a crop of equal value with corn, and we are prepared to believe that upon a plantation properly located with regard to most popular of the new coterie. the mill and with economy in management, the seed will pay the entire expense of cultivation of crop and the delivery of the cane at the mill, as one of our largest sorghum

A Brooklyn Man Falls Dead While Ordering a Coffin for His Wife. William Nelson, a Scotchman, tall and broad shouldered, of powerful build and rugged features, and who, although more then sixty years old, had hardly a streak of gray in his thick black hair and beard, called at Mrs Henry's undertaking rooms, Nr. 393 Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. His wife had died at 9:30 o'clock. Her long illness had rendered him almost penniless, but John Irving, a boss meson, for whom he had worked for several years, accompanied him to the shop and told William Henry, Mrs. Henry's son, to make such an arrangement as might be satisfactory to Mr. Nelson. The arrangements baving been completed, Mr. Nelson started to leave the rooms with Mr. Irving. Before reaching the door he dropped into a chair, and, clutching his arms convalsively, said: "Mr. Henry, please give me a glass of wa-

Nelson had meanwhile become unconscious, and his teeth were so firmly clenched that the water could not be forced into his month. It was soon discovered that he was dead. Mr. Henry said last night:

"Mr. Nelson seemed to be in good health. but he was dead in a minute after dropping into the chair. At first I thought be was in a swoon, but when I placed a mirror in front of his lips there was not the slightest sign of moisture on it. He stopped breathing as suddenly as if a bullet had passed through his brain. Dr. Shepard, who has just made a post-mortem examination, says he died of heart disease. The couple lived at No. 167 Flatbush aveoue. They had no children. They were constant attendants at Dr. Talmage's Church and when Mrs. Nelson was taken sick, about three months ago, some of the women of the congression made frequent visits, and as her illness advanced one or two of them were daily at her bedside. A reporter called at the house last night and found one of these women there. She said: "We had all learned to love this couple. Mrs. Nelson was terribly afflicted, and three or four weeks ago her case became hopsless. She was frequently at the point of death, and even the physician was surprised at the manner in which she seemed to come back to life. Her husband was at her side for a week day and night. The poor fellow was worn out with constant watching. On Sunday afternoon, when we all supposed she was dying to her husband she said: "'I see two funerals going from this

Cooked Food for Fowls. lowa Homestead.

Cooked food of any kind is much easier to digest then it is in a raw state, and it is claimed by chemists that the nutrious vaule of some kinds of food is increased by cooking. It has been experimented with swine and cattle over and over again, and with excellent results, for any method of softening grain, either by cooking it or by fermentation, turns the starch into sugar, which is much easier digested.

It is very beneficial for the fowls, even it the food is simply steamed and fed to them warm. Do not feed cooked food entirely, for it is liable to cause diarrnea or something of that nature, which may develop into some-

The fowls are very fond of a warm morning feed, especially during the cold weather of winter, and if red pepper, chopped onions or "hot stuff" of any kind be mixed occasionally with their food, it will greatly help in keeping them healthy and active, which is so hard to accomplish in the winter; as a result the hens will lay better.

Skeptleism is as bad as Rheumatism. What has Science done for the world? A good many things; for instance, it has shown that Rheumatism can be cured. It has shown that Neuralgia can be got rid of. Modern science has proved that Rheumatism is

A Remarkable Cure of a Horse.

Col. James L. Fleming. a prominent grocery mer bant, a member of the firm of Fleming & Lofton, ugusta, Ga, makes the following statement of the treatment of a valuable horse with Swift's

In the fall of 1883 I had a valuable colt taken with a severe case of pinkeye, which resulted in the most fearful case of blood poisoning I have ever seen. After eight or nine months of doctor-ing with every remedy that I could hear of, I despaired of a cure. At this time the horse was unable to move, because of swollen limbs. His right bind leg was as large as a man's body, and had on-it over forty running sores. He had also a number of large sores on his body and other limbs. He was most pitiable looking object, and I was advised to end his sufferings with the shot gon. He was a valuable animal and I did not want to lose him. After racking my brain in search for another remedy more efficacious, I thought of Swift's Specific. I knew it was invaluble to the human family as a blood purifier. and why should it not be for the animal as well did not hesitate, but sent last July to Atlanta for a supply.

I began the treatment with 4 oz. of S. S. S. and 4 oz. cf water three times a day. This I continued for a week. Then I increased the dose to 6 oz of each, and continued for a week. Then I increased to 8 oz. and run it a week, when I went back to 6 oz. again. The result was that at the end of the first week the horse had a fair appetite, which he had not had since his sickness. At the end of the second week even greaterimi provement was apparent, for many of the sores were healing nice and the horse manifested a desire to move about. At the end of the third week he began to show gain in flesh, and had full appetite. The swelling had about disappeared. I used in all about 15 bottles of Swift's Specific, and when I quit its use the horse had only four small sores leit on him, and they bealed up immediately. In August last all symptoms of the disease passed away, and up to date no signs of the return of the

I regard it one of the most remarkable cures I have ever known. Thus this great medicine has proven a boon to the animal as well as to the human race.
